A personal friend of mine Naomi Hussey who's close with senior members of UKIP has just informed me of the astronomical surge of membership since its endorsement by online personalities.

According to her in the last 12 hours alone over ten thousand members have registered.

This is a huge and if this trend continues could represent a real turning point for our cause and philosophy to become part of mainstream politics.

Keep joining and get the message out.

Migrant crime in Germany is significantly up.

According to the German Federal Criminal Police Office (BKA), there were 39,096 German victims of immigrant crime in 2017, a new high.

This compares with 31,597 the previous year, a rise of 23.7 per cent.

If Trump had put the word "violent" before "crime" in his tweet, he'd be totally correct, and his point would be even MORE valid.

But the media won't point out this distinction and will now smear him as a liar.

Trump said crime is up in Germany, media says that's false.

Fact: VIOLENT crime has risen in Germany and most of the rise is due to migrants.

Here's Reuters admitting it:

Military courtesy and protocol requires that subordinates render a salute to superior and commissioned officers and that the senior officers return the salute. The North Korean general was correct in rendering the salute and Trump was correct in returning it.

What exactly am I supposed to "shut down"? Idiots making comments on the Internet?

Are you responsible for all the death threats I get on a weekly basis?

I have never advocated violence, never will, and am not responsible for morons who do so.

Comey didn't know Weiner was married to Huma Abedin. In what world is this believable? #IGReport

> Comey said that he recalled first learning about the additional emails on the Weiner laptop at some point in early October 2016, although he said it was possible this could have occurred in late September 2016. Comey told the OIG that this information "didn't index" with him, which he attributed to the way the information was presented to him and the fact that, "I don't know that I knew that [Weiner] was married to Huma Abedin at the time."

Not yet, sadly. Our interior minister is simply trying to get rid of Merkel before his head rolls as there are elections in September. I doubt that we will get rid of her that easily. And even our interior minister's willingness to turn things back around is doubtful at best.

This is clearly another attempt by establishment Republicans to ring fence ideas & ostracize Kirk & Candace Owens.

Owens and Kirk have literally met with Trump in the Oval Office, yet YAF is trying to assert they should be sidelined.

50% of online misogynistic comments targeting women are made by other women.

The idea that armies of "aggressive" men are attacking women is a myth perpetuated by extremist feminists who have their feelings hurt, or God forbid, are forced to hear a counter-argument.

Wikimedia UK @wikimedia

Less women edit Wikipedia not because they aren't interested. Often it's to do with being less encouraged to value their knowledge, being attacked by aggressive men online, and having less access to education and other resources needed to be a Wikipedia editor

New scientific study PROVES the left can't meme. 😂

Most “effectively spread” memes originate on The Donald and /pol.

What's the solution?

For the left to get better at memes?

No, to censor and ban memes because they're "hateful," obviously. 😕

There is no 'gender pay gap'.

It doesn't account for longer hours worked by men or a number of other factors.

When these factors are taken into account, the 'gender pay gap' disappears.

How many times do we have to point this out?

Yet, the pay gap still exists, and it's much worse for women.

Here's what you should do; Stop developing intimate relationships with men if you're "happily married".

Dear Liza,

I fell into an instant and deep connection with a man while on a work trip. I'm happily married, so there's no chance of a romantic future, but the friendship has been, and is, enlivening. We share many interests, but mostly we have an easy understanding—something slow and patient and unusual in this world. We occasionally talk on the phone about life, and we're looking forward to having lunch when our paths cross again next month.

However, in the gaps between conversations, I've come to realize that he might be a fan of Jordan Peterson. He hasn't mentioned his name, but there have been significant clues. More alarmingly, he has betrayed a thin-skinnedness around sensitive topics like #MeToo and transgender issues. He's said nothing that's outright offensive maybe because I've made my politics clear. But if I ask directly, and he responds affirmatively that he is a fan of Peterson, what should I do?

Not a Fan of Social Darwinism

Why are leftists obsessed with going after people's families?

Because they're vile, vindictive, shits.

Remember, the harder they virtue signal, the more likely they are to be compensating for their own rampant vulgarity.

Regarding the cake ruling, I love how "progressives" suddenly care about tolerance of other people's beliefs.

You've spent the last year demanding people divorce their spouses, disown their friends & businesses fire employees if they're conservative.

From the same idiot who suggested Trump would be stopped from taking office before the inauguration.

America and the UK are the most tolerant, least racist countries in the world.

We open our borders to hundreds of thousands of immigrants every single year.

Compare us with virtually any other country (white, brown or black) in the world and you'll find more racism there.

      Lol, To Pimp A Butterfly is an absolute masterpiece of an album, and is critically acclaimed with a 96/100 on metacritic. It's perfectly fine if you don't enjoy hip hop, we all vibe to different things! But to imply that those who do don't have taste is just ignorant.

What are kids' lives worth? Turning schools into airports would probably be cost-prohibitive, but a little creative thinking could be applied. Controlled, observed ingress and egress, one plainclothes security resource, that's a start. What do security experts say?

Government doesn't allow police to chase criminals then wonders why crime rate is surging. UK is a meme.

police officers - who fails to drive in a "competent and careful" manner can be prosecuted for careless or dangerous driving.

The Police Federation argues this deters some officers from pursuing suspects - because they are worried they will be investigated and charged if they have to break the speed limit, jump red lights or drive on the wrong side of the road.

The overhaul of the law follows a surge in crimes involving scooters and motorbikes in the last three years, particularly in London.

The left has crapped all over masculinity for years.

Yet they're blaming the right for the rise of "incels".

Bullshit.

It was you who shamed men for being men.

It was you who created a generation of broken, confused boys.

Look in the mirror.

'Disapproving' of transgenderism to become a hate crime in Sweden.

Published May 20 2018 at 11 31

CREATE & CORRECT The Riksdag has now voted for the first part of the government's proposal which makes it illegal to display "contempt" for and discriminate against people because of their "cross-gender identity or gender expressions".

Like the article on Facebook

The Government's proposal for "extended crimina protection for transgender" means adding "gender identity or expression" to the provis ons on the topic of publ c and illegal d scrimination

In this way, the crimes should also include "threatening expressing d sapprova or discriminating" transgender It also becomes clearer that n the assessment of pun shment it wil be difficult if a motive for a crime has been "to violate persons because of their gender identity or gender expressions"

The Riksdag voted on Wednesday for the part of the proposal concerning illegal discrimination and the penalty assessment n so-called hate crime These changes wi begin on July 1 2018

Sex Slave Uniforms

Remember, ladies, it's entirely up to your male overseer (father, husband, or brother) which version of the sex slave uniform you must wear, or risk being beaten or killed. And ladies, you have no say in the choice of your husband, or not to marry at all. And you have no right to ever refuse your unchosen husband's sexual demands, or again, you may be beaten or killed. Can you guess the name of this cruel cult? If I name it, I will be accused of a hate crime!
Why don't Western "feminists" care about this?

Hey @PalmerReport - no matter how many times you scream "racist," it won't change the fact that Trump was talking about MS-13 gang members and that you're a hysterical clown.

Donald J. Trump @realDonaldTrump · 16m
Fake News Media had me calling immigrants, or illegal immigrants, "Animals." Wrong! They were begrudgingly forced to withdraw their stories, & referred to MS 13 Gang Members as "Animals," a big difference - and so true. Fake News got it purposely wrong, as usual.

This MS-13 nonsense has precisely the same structure as the racist drug war rhetoric of the crack years. Politicians would use wildly racist language to describe drug dealers, but if called on it would say "oh so you're defending drug dealers?"

The context of the conversation was MS-13 gang members. It was specifically referenced by the sheriff who Trump was responding to.

By stripping out this context, you are purposefully deceiving the public.

The only 'incredible act of deception' here is yours, you clown.

Stop using "this" to describe things of beauty and start using actual words.

Then there's the "This" phenomenon. Seen a spectacular sunset, a sweeping landscape, a pink dawn? Post a photo hashtagged #Thisiseverything. Or just #This. This #this business has dismal implications for travel, art and nature writing. What if John Ruskin, instead of labouring over his descriptions of the Doge's Palace and San Marco in Venice, had instead taken a St Mark's Square selfie and said simply: '#this…' Something, surely, has been lost.

If you don't read, if you don't learn about lust, betrayal, fretful fears and vengeful instincts from literature and bother to acquire the words that go with them, then your growth, your becoming a fully fledged proper person, has in some awful, important way been stunted. Tragic face.

The resistance against dead end, dictatorial globalism and mouthpieces like Der Spiegel who amplify its relentless, monotonous hogwash.

Time for Europe to Join the Resistance

U.S. President Donald Trump's decision to withdraw from the Iran nuclear deal marks the temporary suspension of the trans-Atlantic alliance. What now?

Why bother having a real argument when you can just edit a Wikipedia page and claim you won?

Grapevil_95 [illegible]
trumps approval is only 40% at its best

Wrong.

Edit: Lmao just like a left leaning sub to upvote fake news. Oh wel

Rasmussen has Trump at 48% approval

For most polling agencies, he's around 45%

For literally 2 he is 40% or under.

https www.realclearpolitics.com/epolls/other/president_trump_job_approval-6[illegible]79.html

[illegible]

LOL! I didn't even know what Rasmussen was, so I googled it. First thing I see is their wikipedia page, and the very first line says "Rasmussen Reports is the least accurate American polling company founded in 2003."

[illegible] replied

Grapevil_95 [illegible]
https en.wikipedia.org/w/index.php?title=Rasmussen_Reports&diff=840545[illegible]&oldid=839408636

Wow. lmao, never seen someone actually edit a wikipedia page in an attempt to win an argument.

You really thought I wouldn't check the edit history on that page. you moron?

For anyone who doesn't wanna follow my link, it was edited today, May 10th. The change was from "[illegible] an American polling company" to "the least accurate American polling company."

Hahahe goddamn, you people parody yourselves.

> The exile of Bret Weinstein and Ms. Heying from Evergreen State brought them to the attention of a national audience that might have come for the controversy but has stayed for their fascinating insights about subjects including evolution and gender. "Our friends still at Evergreen tell us that the protesters think they destroyed us," Ms. Heying said. "But the truth is we're now getting the chance to do something on a much larger scale than we could ever do in the classroom."

Actual piece in the Guardian arguing for the automatic right to vote to be revoked because the plebs aren't voting the way they want.

theguardian.com/comment sfree/ . .

> I have been examining electoral systems across the world. In many democracies, including the US and UK, migrants are required to pass government-sanctioned civic tests in order to gain citizenship. So, in this vein, why not give all voters a test of their knowledge? This would ensure minimum standards that should lead to higher-quality decision-making by the electorate. The message this would send is that voting is not just a right, but one that has to be earned. Such testing would not only lead to a better-informed electorate, but also to voters who are more actively engaged.

That's where talent comes in to play. Whatever one's political leanings are is no longer in question. That's the difference between a true comic who skewers both spectrums as opposed to a character assassination daily show which has morphed into a pulpit for preaching.

While compared to Islamic terror the threat is minor, Europe's disastrous migration policies will fuel pockets of right wing extremism.

The left will then point to this extremism as justification for their policies.

All forms of extremism must be disavowed at every opportunity.

So the main source for the Daily Beast's hit piece on me is Alex Jones' bitter ex-wife who I briefly met once 13 years ago.

Fair and balanced, I'm sure you'll agree.

Here are the only bits worth reading.

Denise Butterell said she remembered Paul's mother Hazel in particular as they both worked in child support in the area.

She recalled the music reverberating into her house through Paul and his brother Steve's bedroom walls. Those muffled sounds included the heavy thrum of grunge and rock bands like Rage Against the Machine.

John Iles, who was in Watson's year at Bradfield, said they had bonded over alternative rock, as there weren't that many kids into the same music scene at their school. "R.A.T.M. was one of the first bands we started talking about and he even made a copy of their first album for me on tape," he said. "He was heavily into Nirvana, and I think the grunge thing was a big part of his life back then."

Iles, who now works in the construction industry, remembered Watson well and said he would have described him as a good friend. "He was shy, very clever, and was always quite political in his views. Rebelling with us, smoking at an early age, and just interested in playing guitar.

"Loved the Sex Pistols too," he said. "The Sex Pistols were always anarchy in the U.K., fuck the system types, right?"

Lee Hutton remembered a quiet kid with strong views. "Teachers liked him a lot and he always had an opinion," he said. "Whether he was right or wrong,

How immigration fueled London's soaring knife crime.

> What advantage does the next level bring? "Power, status, girls, especially girls." Did Wayne, who is black British, think you have to be more aggressive today than in the past to earn your stripes? "In the last 10 years, since the Somalis and the Congolese came to London, they taught us a whole new level of violence," he said.
> "These people had seen family members mutilated so when they said, 'I'm gonna smash you up,' us guys would be shouting, 'Yo blud, wot you mean?' and they would just pull out a blade and juk [stab] you in the chest. It upped the speed and level of violence for us British born guys. We had to arm up to protect ourselves. It created an upward spiral."

People blame Sadiq Khan for London's violent crime epidemic, but it was Theresa May who reduced stop and search and told police they couldn't chase criminals on mopeds.

> In 2015, during her tenure as Home Secretary, Theresa May thought it a nice idea to recommend that the cops stop chasing kids without helmets on mopeds for fear they'd crash and injure themselves. The result of this kindly meant, politically expedient guidance was a huge increase in both moped stealing and moped backed crime. By 2017, gang kids were cruising around town swiping phones from passing pedestrians. They drove into cafés and snatched laptops from coffee drinkers, then zoomed away. The guidance has been reversed but the die is cast. It's contributed to a culture in which almost everyone thinks it's a grand idea to mock the police

I am a closeted conservative because after few years of struggle I am looking forward to be a graduate in Legal History, and a hopeful Oxford / Paris scholar in some time. Academia is so intolerant to conservatives that speaking out my opinions would definitely a professional suicide (..till I get a tenure though). Also, Morrissey was not a "leftist," he was a liberal. You remember those? They actually stood for liberal principles like free speech.

Leftists are intellectual cowards who are quite happy to abandon liberal principles so they can embrace idiotic, meaningless virtue signaling.

I was listening to @Maa,.aNawaz's show last weekend and some idiot woman called in and said FGM was no different from breast feeding because in both cases the child had no choice.

This was not a prank call. She actually thought and said this on national radio.

Morrissey gives an interview specifically about the fact that all the left does now is call everyone a "racist" & that it isn't an argument.

Morrissey trends on Twitter.

Blue ☑ lefties respond in unison....

"Morrissey's a racist!"

He's a global icon and you're nothing. 🥰

In Slavic languages like Russian verbs & adjectives also have genders, and so do our surnames, so there is no way to be gender-neutral unless you go with plural. Even Western surnames have different case endings depending on gender (female stay the same, male change)

Sergei Dobrovolsky @SergeDobrovolsky - 16 apr

It's easy to tell that a woman from a Slavic country is a 2+ generation immigrant in the West, because they have male Slavic surnames. Which is kind of discriminatory - why don't men get female surnames when they emigrate? Jane Debska/Ivanov, but no John Debska/Ivanova.

Mattis and Bolton are fighting over the planned attack on Syria.

Bolton is a crazed neo-con warmonger.

Mattis knows that there was no evidence Assad did the 2017 chemical attack & is concerned about blowback.

This is like the evidence for charging someone with murder being the existence of a dead body.

Rebels have used chemical weapons (including sarin & chlorine) before.

They were the only ones who stood to gain from using them.

That chem weapons were used isn't proof of anything.

Yep. A HUGE coincidence. That's why I find it very hard 2 believe Assad is responsible 4 killing his own people just as our forces were supposed 2 be pulling out doesn't benefit Assad at all - it only hurts him. Makes much more sense that the desperate rebels would resort 2 it

The @Independent tried to smear Morrissey as a bigot because he approved of a Union Jack flag at his gig (the horror).

While Moz is still packing out venues, the Independent is out of print & is now an online-only joke which only exists to be laughed at.

Economy was't rotten - market up 250% and sub 5% unemployment. Oh, but let's bring back manufacturing jobs that are disappearing worldwide due to automation. China is doubling down on automation. Not only will we lose those jobs anyway, we'll be buying the robots from China

Nope - long term automation is cheaper. Robots work 24/7, never quit, never call in sick, don't get paid, etc. That's why China is doubling down on automation. The real issue is what to do about a large section of the workforce that will get displaced

The Guardian gave Peterson's book a bad review because it completely eviscerates the relativist colostomy bag content they spew on a minute by minute basis.

Imagine my shock. Then buy the book. It's a revelation.
